-Spectator Notes-

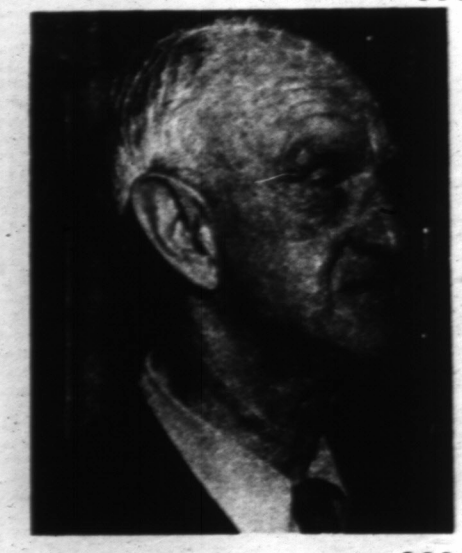
We must admit – we had an uneasy feeling that the Hathaway Shirt man really did have one eye out. But now our worries are no longer with us. It appears that he has shifted his patch.

- - - - - -

This suspecting everyone who does anything one doesn't like of being a Communist is going a little far. An irate woman at the post office the other day was berating the man at the window who had just handed her a large package with a small tear in it. "I think there must be some subversives in the post office somewhere," she said as she flounced out.

- - - - - -



Pop Smith had quite a Thanksgiving Day. He shot a hole-in-one at the tourney held in Pacific Grove. Pop bought 36 balls at $1 per dozen. He then proceeded to whack away. After failing to correct a slice in his 3 wood, he took a 4 iron and sank his 36th shot. Pop got a loving cup with a ball inside and a year's free golf on the PG links.

- - - - - -

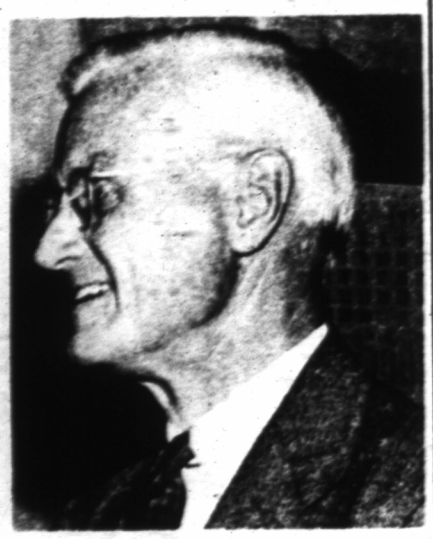
McGinnis, Louis Conlan's dog, is –we discover– the most arrested dog in town. Whenever the SPCA man drives into town looking for dogs loose in the business district, McGinnis usually manages to find him. He comes wagging up to his old friend and enjoys the ride over to the David avenue pound. Then Louis wearily goes over and bails him out again.

- - - - - -

Congratulations to the Herald's Jimmy Costello and Nancy. Their newest is a daughter, Mickey, who joins Mollie, Jimmy, Pete and Julie.

- - - - - -

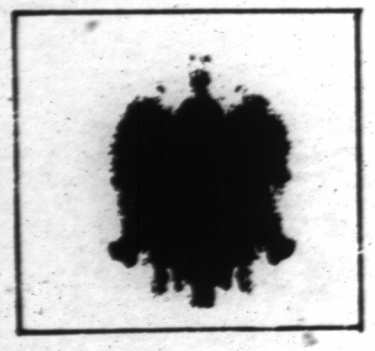
Horace Lyon has about the most accurate rain gauge of all –his swimming pool at his Carmel Valley place. All through the summer he has to pump water in, now he pumps it out. After last Monday's storm, the pool showed that between 1.5 and 2 inches fell. Now Horace is going to rig a permanent ruler at the side of the pool so that he can keep track of the rainfall.



- - - - - -

And speaking of that Big Rain, it wasn't quite right. We needed the rain, but not so much so fast. It started by cleaning off the rubbish in the gutters, but as it grew it brought more rubbish than ever –mostly in the form of pine needles.

- - - - - -



We noticed with interest those ink blot ads announcing the 1953 Plymouth. If the Chrysler Corporation thinks this type of Rorschach advertising does them some good, who are we to question? So herewith is our ink blot. Anyone who has the same psychoses as The Spectator and interprets this blot in more or less the same fashion can get a copy of this beautiful edition of The Spectator ABSOLUTELY FREE.

- - - - - -

Christmas doesn't really get into Carmel until the big tree at the foot of Ocean avenue hill is lit. This year it will go on December 15.

Village Week

COUNCIL AUTHORIZES PARKING SURVEY

An authoratative study of Carmel's parking situation has been authorized ay the council to be used as a basis for attacking the existing parking problem. The study will be made by the AAA or some university group.

The study and its recommendations will serve as a guide in the establishment of the proposed parking district. The study should reveal how much space is necessary and where it should be located.

At present the Carmel Business Association is circulating a petition among property owners in the business area requesting that such a district be formed. A minimum of 35 per cent of the property in the area must be on the petition to bring it before the council. Then the council must hold a hearing on the matter to determine whether or not an election should be held to actually form the parking district.

The CBA has been centering its activities on the acquisition of the M.J. Murphy lot at the corner of Junipero and Ocean. But this week it turned over its option to purchase the land to Mrs. Leslie B. Fenton of Pebble Beach and she bought the property for $117,000. But she has offered the bulk of the lot (all except a strip of Ocean avenue frontage) to the city or a parking district for $56,500.

BAY SCHOOL DISTRICT WILL JOIN CARMEL

With less than half the voters of the area turning out, the Bay School District voted 80 to 4 to annex to the Carmel School District. The vote was held Monday – the day of the big storm.

The Bay district, which includes Carmel Highlands and the surrounding area, is an elementary district and is at present part of the Monterey system. The formal merger with the Carmel district will come next July.

Bay district will bring with it $1.5 million assessed valuation and the 73-year old school house near San Jose Creek. Lower grades will continue to attend the little red school, but the older children will come into the Carmel schools.

The merger will mean a 5 cent school tax rate increase for Bay district residents. The new tax will be $1.93.

At present the district is paying $1.11 to the Monterey district plus 65 cents for the maintenance of the Bay school plus 12 cents for Monterey high school bonds. As part of the Carmel district, the tax will include $1.65 Carmel school tax, 16 cents junior college tax (now included in Monterey's $1.11 and retain the Monterey bond tax of 12 cents.

The addition of the Bay district will bring more than $16,000 to the Carmel district's annual revenue.

The vote and decision to join Carmel was the result of a long battle by Bay district residents. Their efforts were opposed by the Monterey district which fought to retain the assessed valuation of the area.

Formal approval of the move must be given by the Carmel School Board.

AUDITOR PRAISES CITY'S RECORDS AND EMPLOYEES

At the completion of the audit of Carmel's books and records, the spokesman for the firm of Williford and Wilshire has high praise for the city employees.

C.S. Wilshire said the city had a "good organization" and that it could not afford to go out on the open market to get such competent employees."

In speaking of the city's financialrecords, he said, "This is one of the best systems of accounts I have seen. And I know because we audit other cities in the state. All the accounts were in excellent order."

City Clerk Peter Mawdsley is also financial officer of the city and as such is in charge of keeping the city's accounts and records. His system, which he devised himself, has also been praised by various state officials who had occasion to refer to them.

LIBRARY DIRECTORS RENAMED BY COUNCIL

Albert M. Lester and Elizabeth Beaton have been named by the city council this week to serve three-year terms on the library board. Both are present members of the board and were recommended for appointment by Clayton B. Neill, the board chairman.

FOR ONCE THE CITY COUNCIL IS THANKED

At last a Carmel citizen thanked the city council for its hard work. Miss Skipper Ackroyd wrote the letter on Thanksgiving noting appreciation for the work done by the council during the past year.

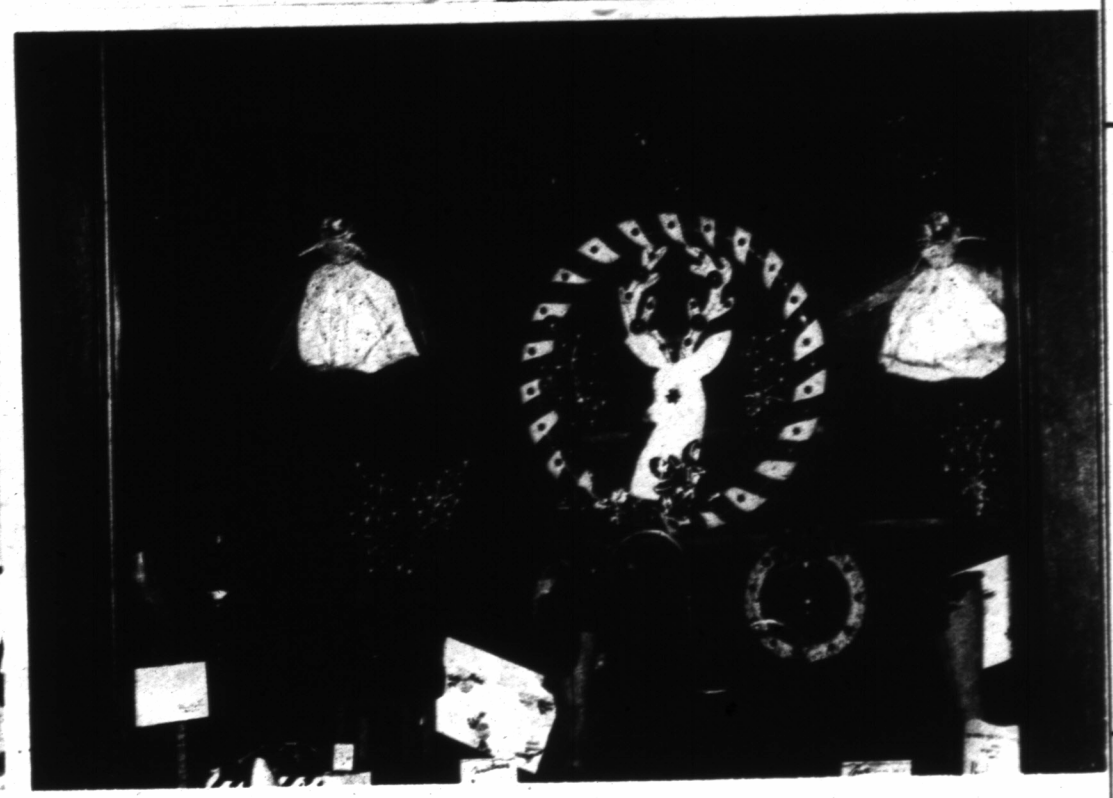
This note in the agenda lightened this week's council meeting that threatened to be just like the rest –a three-hour thankless task.

THAT TV PROBLEM IS A MATTER OF TOPOGRAPHY

Those listeners who gathered at the Navy School to hear R.C. Cooper talk on TV went away discouraged if they came to hear how to improve their picture. He explained that it is a matter of geography and topography, not electronics.

The Santa Cruz mountains disturb the signals sent from San Francisco and there's really nothing to be done about tit. He noted, however, that if a new station is built in the county (an application to the FCC has been made) the local reception will be markedly improved.

The lecture is the first in a



Christmas decorations in the shops are already going up –and it looks as though Carmel shops will be more attractive than ever this year. The competition of $500 in prizes is bound to make for some exceptional displays. series of scientific talks designed to interest local people. The next one, January 15, will be an analysis of military operations during World War II, especially operations planning on the basis of past successes and failures.

SUB, LST'S ENLIVEN MONTEREY BAY

Despite the fact that Monterey Bay has only limited harbor facilities, there has been quite a bit of activity lately of a military nature.

This week the Navy submarine Pomodon is there to give Navy School students a crack at the real thing after classroom studies.

And last week seven LSTs landed a Camp Cooke amphibious tank batallion on the beach. The disembarkation proved to be impressive.

"MERCHANT OF VENICE" AT BOUGH NEXT WEEK

The beautiful stage of the Golden Bough Playhouse will have its formal inaugeration On Friday and Saturday, December 12 and 13th with a special matinee on Saturday. The performers who will be the first to tread the boards are the famous Barter Theatre of Virginia, the only state-subsidized theatre company in America. They will present their lavish and highly praised production of "The Merchant of Venice." It will star Woodrow Romoff, in a brilliant characterization of Shylock, said to be incomparable in our generation.

The origins of the Barter Theatre go back to the thirties, when the depression was at its lowest ebb and many actors were out of work. One of them, Robert Porterfield, assembled about twenty first-quality players in New York and took them to the Virginia Highlands. For an entire season they subsisted on "faith, hope and vittles" a phrase which became their slogan. Food and produce replaced cash at the box-office.

Later came success, with real money, and the Barter Theatre, still rejoicing in its original title, receives a substantial subsidy from the State of Virginia. It is the oldest and largest theatrical company outside of New York. As the Virginia "state" theatre, it has

CARMEL THEATER:

Tonight and Saturday: A film widely hailed for its scenic beauty, "The Quiet Man," with John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara will play. Filmed in Ireland, in Technicolor, the picture is directed by John Ford who did "The Informer." Also showing is one of Walt Disney's real-life nature studies, "Water Birds." Judging by the previous pictures in this series, "Beaver Valley," and "Nature's Half-Acre," this one should be well worth seeing as the patient camera work reveals seldom seen aspects of wild life. Sunday thru Tuesday, Ray Milland appears in the "silent" film, "The Thief." This story of an atomic spy has received wide publicity due to the fact that there is no dialogue throughout the picture. There is only background music. It is said to be a tense, suspenseful film with one of

GOLDEN BOUGH OPENS THEATRE-IN-THE-ROUND

The awaited opening of the, Golden Bough's much talked about theatre-in-the-round, called the Player's Circle, will take place next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, December 9, 10 and 11. The artist who will dedicate it to a career of intimate musical and dramatic presentations is Michael Head, noted young English baritone, pianist and composer. Now crossing the Continent and winning acclaim on a Canadian concert tour, Mr. Head brings the highest testimonials to his artistry and to the distinctive character of his art.

The London Times said of him last season, "A remarkable concert for one man to give. It is rare these days to find anyone who can sit down to the piano and sing to it himself... his is an art of real refinement and distinction." The Manchester Guardian said, "Michael Head sang and played with impeccable taste...the note of intimacy is spontaneous and effective."

Tickets for these theatre-in-the-round recitals, a unique event in local musical history, may be secured at the Golden Bough box-office, and at the Browse Around Music Shop.

LAST WEEKEND, the Carmel Ski Club held its Thanksgiving party at the Mission Ranch with over 200 members and guests in attendance. Among the dancers at the affair were Shirley Gair and Randy Koenig.

addition to the Peninsula, coming here from New York where he was an active teacher of violin.

Miss Yasuko Nakashima, an expert musician, playing the Japanese musical instrument, the koto, will also perform. It will be a rare treat to hear the unusual instrument played by one of the few outstanding artists of today. Miss Nakashima was heard recently by a few musicians at the home of Col. and Mrs. Phillip Schneeburger in Carmel.

Mr. Serge Panin, tenor, will sing a group of songs. Mr. Panin has an enviable background. He is a graduate of the Minska Conservatory of Music, and a post-graduate student of a conservatory in Moscow. He was stage director in operatic concerts in Russia, where Mozart opera excelled.

Mrs. Marjorie Wurzmann, well known on the Peninsula as an outstanding pianist, will close the program with a group of numbers.

The concert is open to members only.

Carmel book seller, John Short, is a teacher reformed. The changeover came about a year ago, when John decided that the selling of books would be more pleasurable than conducting guided tours through them. Without further ado, he left his teaching in Salinas and switched his attention here.

New to his business, John is far from new to Carmel. He first began coming here as a child and the trips were often visits to his grandparents' homes. One grandfather, H.L. Hathaway, built the first home at Pebble Beach, and his paternal grandfather was one of Carmel's pioneers.

Born in San Francisco, John went to school there and started college at San Mateo. He grew restive, deciding that he wasn't too sure what he was aiming at, and joined the Chronicle in San Francisco. Beginning as a copy boy, he moved on to reporting and had become assistant to the copy desk editor when, in 1942, the Army summoned him.

Stationed in Hawaii, he worked on the Pacific edition of "Stars and Stripes," one of the seven regional editions of the Army paper. When he was discharged, in 1945, he decided to pick up college again, and went to Cal where he took his degree in English, aiming at a teacher's career.

It was during this time that he married Madge Saunders, who is called Peggy. She had just finished a tour of service with the Waves, as a full lieu-

Academy-Award winner Milland's best performances. Wednesday through Saturday: A star ladened picture, "Plymouth Adventure," plays. This tale of the voyage of the Mayflower to America stars Spencer Tracy as the captain, Gene Tierney as his wife, and Van Johnson as Captain John Smith. Children especially should enjoy the picture as colonial history is a little fresher in their minds.

THE GOLDEN BOUGH:

The Golden Bough Playhouse film bill for the week includes "My Son John," starting tonight, starring Helen Hayes, first-lady of the American theater. Alec Guiness, who occupies a simlar niche in British movies, plays Disraeli in "The Mudlark," with Irene Dunne in the role of Queen Victoria. It will open Monday and play thru Tuesday. "The Mudlark" is the touching story of a waterfront waif who broke into Buckingham Palace with the frantic frantic hope of sitting on the Queen's throne. "Detective Story," is the next feature and it will begin Wednesday afternoon. It stars Kirk Douglas, who rose to fame in the bitter "The Champion." It is the strong story of a detective's discovery that his wife is implicated in a crime ring, and his emotional struggle to forgive her for having been less than perfect. It is a strong, adult drama.

HILL THEATER:

"Limelight" will hold over at the Hill Theater through next Wednesday. This long-awaited film of Charles Chaplin's has received wide press coverage since its appearance here. Incidentally, this is the third comunity in the country to see the film; it has played only in New York and San Francisco previously. Chaplin, who wrote, directed, and composed the score for the picture, chose as his leading lady a newcomer to American audiences --Claire Bloom. Miss Bloom who is now playing Juliet in Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" with great success in London, takes the part of a ballet dancer who is saved from suicide by Calvero, (Chaplin) an aging music hall comedian. Incorporatec in the film is a ballet, also the work of Chaplin, and three of his matchless vaudeville routines- The last of these, with Buster Keaton assisting him, bids fair to become legendary.

A Guide to Gift Shopping

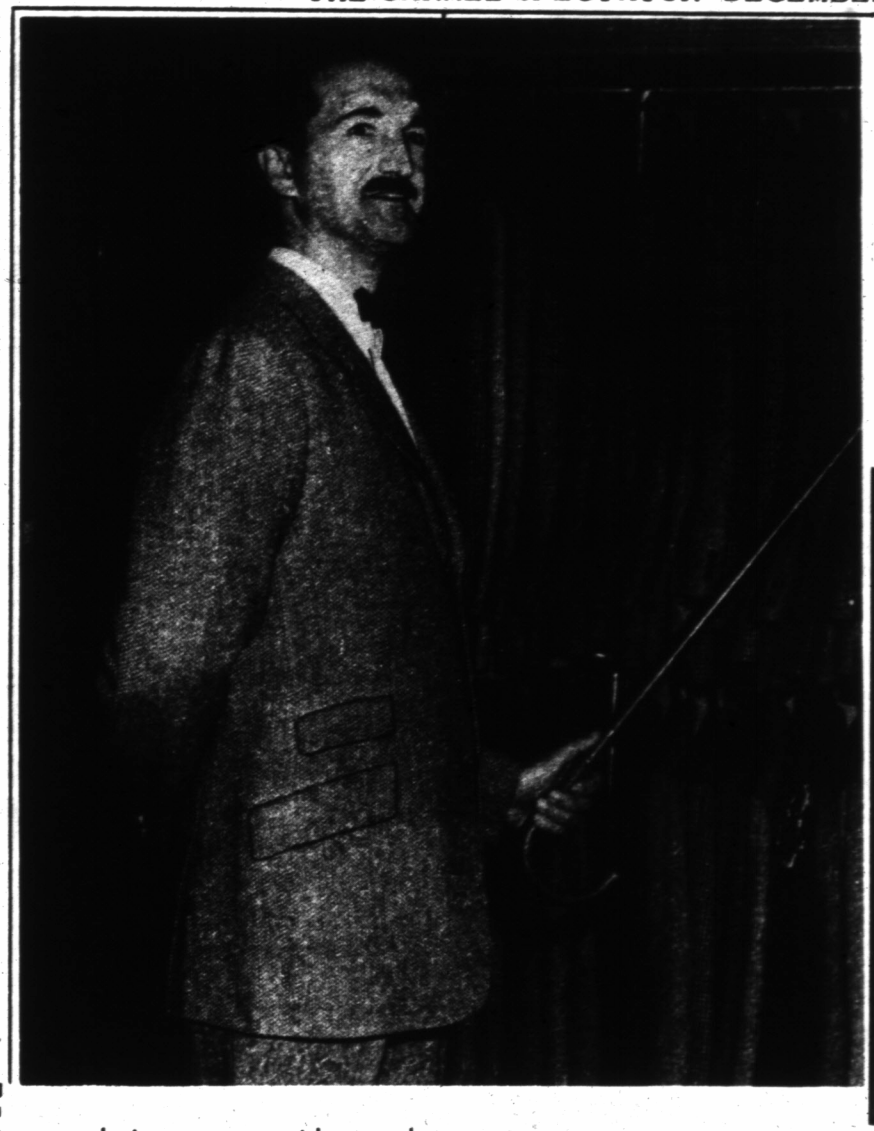
Christmas shopping on the Peninsula this year promises to be as pleasurable for the giver as the receiver. The local shops offer a happy solution to even the most difficult person on your list. We have rounded up some "best buys" and offer them herewith to help make your annual spree the fun it should be.

The Turnabout Shop on Dolores Street is, as everyone must know, a resale shop. It has lately however, extended the meaning of the word, with the purchase of stocks from four gift shops which were either overloaded or about to resign from business. Among the new things they have are dolls, 15" tall, all with enviable blonde hair and blue eyes which close. They're 5.95 which is considerably cheaper than they were intended to sell for. There are also some character dolls, made by Indians, with gnarled faces, and homespun clothing who represent pioneers. They would be ideal for doll collectors, or the child who likes homely dolls. They begin at 75¢ and go upward from there. In the jewelry case here there are many lovely semi-precious pieces, some agate necklaces and Swedish modern costume bracelets, as well as several cigarette cases, including one whose face is engraved with a $500 bill which should make any cigarette taste richer. If your giftee is an antique collector, there are two rooms filled to brimming with every imaginable collectors' item. Silver, knick-knacks, beautiful old glass and china. It is worth bearing in mind that there is an across the board 10% reduction on everything at the Turnabout Shop until Christmas.

Of prime interest at Gladys Mc Cloud's is the jewelry...most of which is exactly $1 and which is far from juvenile. Attractive earrings, suitable for any age, come in jewelled, gold or silver, and it is an especially agreeable selection. Little rhinestone barettes, (3 emerald cut stones apiece) are 2 for $1. Charm bracelets of sufficient heaviness and simplicity for anyone are $1 and $2. There is some pretty cloissonne jewelry for the really young ladies. Pocketbooks tend to be small here, but if you know a person who does not carry all her equipment with her, a little clutch bag at 3.50 comes in red, green and navy. It is simple and nice, fitted with a compact and a gold-bound comb. It should especially please the school-set since it is a good size to carry with a stack of books. Little painted wooden boxes, topped with 3-dimensional angel's, would make any young lady's dressing table brighter..at 1.25. They would be fine for holding all of the bobby pins that are now rattling around the world in ild tin boxes or such. Blouses in abundance, teens', girls', and women's, range from 1.98 to 5.98. Among them are the Ship 'N Shore brand which has done so much to bring cotton back to fashion with imaginative styling and distinctive pattern. Nylon, rayon or cotton underwear is here. A fine slip at 5.98 has much decoration, is nylon, and would be a perfectly wonderful way to liberate a young girl from the round-necked cotton styles of youth. For school-mate exchange, there are special 50¢ presents, jewelry, scarves, etc.

Perhaps the fanciest of the Hour Glass's many gift things is a gold kid collar, studded with rhinestones. It would be stunning with a black evening sweater...or almost any simple top that would lend itself to a Peter Pan collar. It is 17.50 and there are other collars of silver kid and velvet. There are belts to match all at



Among the clothes Derek Rayne has in stock for Christmas is this Shetland paddock coat, shown here on Ken Gray. The picture shows the unusual lines of the coat and the pockets set at an angle.

12.50, heavily crusted with rhinestones. The lingerie here is Gotham Gold Stripe...ranging from $6 to 39.95, the last price for a gown shaded, permanently pleated, and trimmed with an abundance of ecru lace. Permanent pleating is prominent in the Gotham collection, and there are some lovely pastel nightgowns of the stuff, 8.95, with matching bedjackets at 3.95. Waffle patterned nylon tobes are 12.95 and come in pink or navy, in a coachman cut, full length. The artificial flowers, in everything from kid to velour, are abundant and if you know of a person given to white blouses, a boquet would be welcome..they begin at $1. If 10.95 is your price, there are some berets, made entirely of delicately colored, big (½ inch) sequins, in shades of beige and gray. They would be a sensation with almost any dressy costume. Heavy satin (really heavy) is offered in subtly striped scarves at 3.95 and black velvet wraplets for evening are restrainedly twinkled with rhinestones for from 6.95 to 14.95. Extra touches of bugle beading and embroidery deck gloves which can be found at the Hour Glass in generous array, ay prices from $2 up, depending on the amount of detail and material.

Knits are the special Christmas joy of the Cinderella Shop, and they have them in force. There are both one and two piece designs, combining and using singly every imaginable color. Some have beading, some have gold knitted in. The prices begin at 49.95 and they seem a good choice for Carmel where their use is year-around. There is (definitely for the top name on your list) a collection of hand-made spencers and stoles here...a gorgeous doeskin flannel, some trimmed with sartouche and black lace, others with giant tear-drop pearls. Some are black and some a perfectly beautiful off-white. They are delicately lined in silk and thoroughly elegant.....from 29.95 to 49.95. If a scarf would fit the bill, the selection here is boundless, and more subtle coloring and design meets the eye than usual...So long as the supply lasts, the Cinderella Shop has some very French jewelry, iridescent glass, similar to Venetian work. Earrings are 3.95 and there are necklaces and bracelets too. There is a group of straw bags here, made in France and Italy, which are absurd and would very much please a lady who has all of the requisite leather bags and would like something silly and very pretty..They range from 7.95 to $20 for the beaded French ones.

The selection of gifts from $2 to $5 at Putnam and Ragget is boundless. There is a little brocade clutch bag, fitted with comb and compact here which would be lovely with cocktail or evening clothes...2.95. There are loosely woven stoles, with golf or silver threads running through them that are particularly light and soft, yet warm, at 2.95 to 5.95. The Carter's lingerie is especially attractive, all of it nylon. There are pink, white and blue gowns, and some sets, consisting of gown and loose peignor robe. The prices start at 6.95, running to 30.00. Slips, serviceable and beautiful, range from 3.95 to 15.95 for a particularly lavish, lace trimmed one. Handkerchiefs which are often a desperation gift, needn't be this year. There are various patterns here in Swiss batiste, embroidered with red and green holly, poinsettias, and so forth. The holly design is very delicate and tiny. One tucked into a Christmas card should please anyone. They cost from $1 to 1.50. The Premier cashmeres here, in an even dozen colors, have a nice, almost knubby texture, are heavy and hand-finished. The slipon is 15.95 and the cardigan 19.95. Martex towels in every imaginable color are here, and the little guest sizes which are less than 50¢, come in good, clear colors. Dynel argyle socks, which look and feel like wool, but can be tossed in the machine, and dried without a stretcher. Finally, there are thoroughly washable terry slippers, in many colors, at 1.95 and 2.95 depending on the thickness of the crepe rubber sole.

The handbag selection at The Village Shoe Tree is a big one, running the gamut from an 8.95 Italian saddle leather bag, that combines suede and polished leather, up to a leather lined alligator at $50.00. There are two color bags (red and navy calf, for example) where the lining contrasts with the exterior. They are beautifully finished, and under $20. There is also a French purse of cobra, lined with pigskin, that is an impeccable accessory and costs 8.95. There are slippers here, from rabbit furred styles, to a sweet, square-throated, flat-heeled "Clix" in checked corduroy. These are 3.95. Daniel Green's D'Orsay can be had here too for the woman of tradition. There are also children's slippers...for both genders, Berkshire hosiery has a price span from 1.00 to 1.65, and there is a club plan, where every so often a free-pair dividend is declared. Gift certificates are the perfect fit, if the lady wants a pair of shoes..or possibly those and a matching handbag. Such a certificate could be applied on a finely made pair of Palizios, ($20) or to less costly Red Cross, Grayflex, Mademoiselle and Sandler. Casual shoes begin at less than $10. They will tell you here what amount would cover the gift you have in mind.

L'Arc de Triomphe is stocked with the hand-picked treasures of France...elegant things from yesteryear. A perfectly beautiful pair of candlesticks (that once graced Princess Murat's chateau at Chamblis) are made of greened-bronze and gilt in a very grand manner, and are $225. Mother-of-pearl boxes, containing decorated perfume bottles, many with inlay, are around $175 and not to be compared with anything that has come along in recent years for dressing table luxury. Hermes' crocodile is here, in men's belts and wallets, leather lined pocketbooks and compacts. The finish is of jeweler's quality, and the crocodile, perfect small-marked skins, is lustrous and will not fade, crack or peel. Compacts with a thin gold-rope edging are 29.00 and handbags, with interiors as perfect as their exteriors, are $125. They may be had in black or "gold", a warm, medium brown. If you have a dueller on your list complete encased sets are available, all of them with illustrious histories, for 225 to $275. When not employed, they are handsome, opened on a table. There are also little knick-knacks (a metal fleur de lis finial for a worthy lamp is an example) for inexpensive giving.

If the manner of giving is important to you, it's hard to imagine anything more attractive than the array of gift stockings for adults and children at Le Gourmet. There is a pink stokcing for the fair sex, which Le Gourmet would be happy to fill with matching champagne or any other taste of the lady's. The children's stockings are of felt, heavily trimmed, with things that sparkle and can be filled with candies or most any other goody. The Blum's packaged candies are elaborately wrapped, as either little aqua and gold rocking horses, candy canes or dolls. If you want to spend any amount from $4.50 up, the Gourmet people will pack one of their unusual woven baskets to order. The baskets are Italian, all re-usable and vary from the traditional hampers to woven "half-shells" and cornucopias. The last two would make wonderful Holiday centerpieces when they are emptied. The range of domestic and foreign wines here is complete, no matter how refined the tastes of the intended giftee, and you'll find all nationalities of cheese, too. The cocktail snacks and tinned delicacies assortment is legion and exotic.

Harriet Duncan's very nicest gifts are lingerie and her incomparable cashmeres. Made by Dalton the cashmeres are 4 ply with the finest detailing and finish. A galaxy of colors (corals, subdued lavenders, and others) they come in cardigans at 21.95, slipons at 16.95. The "fancies" at 22.95 are glorious toppers for velvet skirts, trimmed with pearls and allied spangles, for throwing over an evening or cocktail decolletage. Magnificent trifles, her Calderon belts, starting at 5.95, come in any color, combined in every imaginable harmony, to make, for example, a gray skirt and a black blouse into a co-ordinated costume. They're the third man, the perfect answer to a gift to a tailored woman, and who wouldn't be pleased to have her waistline considered? The lingerie here is legendary...with costly airs, practical ways and a range of prices tailored to meet all budgets. Be sure to see the all nylon lace petticoat, in black or white, with an underlayer of pastel blue or pink, which is fitted to wall below the hips, where it bells out into a generous flounce...under $15.

The smalls and infants on your list could hardly hope for more than one of the stuffed animals at the Bib 'N Tucker. They start at 48¢ and run up to 6.50, and are engaging armfuls. For a little boy nothing in past years has seemed quite so handsome as the red, white and blue striped blazers here in a fine saw-toothed stripe of washable wool. These jackets, which should give a well-scrubbed little boy the look of a cherished beau brummel, are 10.95. There are pants, sold separately, to match. Baby dresses, of batiste and other fine cottons, with embroidery and applique, are from 3.95 to 4.95. They are all pretty. School dresses for young ladies from 7 to 14, run from 3.95 to 5.95 here, and have the style and verve characteristic of this shop where all of the children's things are stylish and apart from the ordinary. For a special child, there are handknits of stunning colors (a boy's romper suit of white with loving detail of red) that sport appliques of anything from Santa Claus to geometric designs. They are a knock-out and start at 10.50.

In Carmel, a plant is always welcome, and the Piccadilly Flowering Plant shop has laid by a particularly lavish selection for Christmas giving. African Violets run from 1.25 to 2.00 and exhibition blooms of this plant (which are far fancier than any African Violet I had ever seen) are $3. Poinsettias, for the traditionalist, are from 1.75 to 3.00 and they continue to look as Christmassy as ever. A special supply of ceramic and metal planters, which the shop will be happy to fill with your selection of plants, is available. The cost of it will depend on what you choose to fill it. An anthurium, a large, exotic lanceolate leaf with a tongue of red flower licking at its stem, is anywhere from $5 to 7.50. The plant comes from Hawaii, so this does not seem unreasonable. A variety of other plants, steady favorites for this area, are for sale, and if you know a gardener, outdoor plants make inspired gifts.

Best from Britain is a singular enterprise...the ordering of British merchandise by mail at the prices London pays, less the English purchase tax. With the devaluated pound, it seems little to us. There are masterly leather handbags (in disciplined styles much like the bags made famous by Tiffany) most of them leather lined, and all under 31.50. They are custom ordered, and if it's your pleasure, you can combine almost any two colors...or even tweed and leather. There is a man's gold-bound leather wallet for order here at 7.50. It is pigskin, durable and classic. There are stoles, both knit and tartans, and they range around ten dollars. If he or she fancies himself a traveler, there is a giant duffle (of the kind seen in airline advertising) that is capacious leather bound plaid and $18.00 (20") to 22.50 for a 24" size. For the very small are knitted things; shetland blankets or a pair of little pearl stitch booties, with tiny pearl buttons that should make small fry feet happy for $3.50. Crown and Rose pewter is a faultlessly tasteful gift, and there are sugar and creamers, vases and monumental award sized bowls. . .ranging from $6 (porringer) to $36.00 for a coffee pot. An attractive card is given to inform intended giftees of the ordering. It says that the gift is on its way from London, which should please most anyone but Colonel McCormick.

Devotedly modern, Bishopp-Kneedler's housewares are stunning and entirely free from the chichi that sometimes masquerades as modern. There are some Swedish stainless steel platters and allied serving pieces of handsome narrowed oval design with a three inch wide tiered border that would grace any period of house. They begin at $8 and run to 39.95. For those whose rooms contain brass, and for whom a silver lighter would be inharmonious, there are brass and ebonized wood table lighters, with clean snap movements. The shapes vary from a fat, round one to an elevated dinner lighter on ebonized legs of about eight inches. A hand-polished walnut occasional table of beautiful, simple proportions is 19.50..26 X 17 X 20 inches. Plastic bubble lamps, extreme and extremely pretty, in white, are available in a range of sizes. They are opaque white forms (ovoid, tubular, etc.) which disperse light from their entire surface..which is rough textured, suggesting the inclusion of pounded fiber. A brilliant print collection of happily untouted Matisse, Picasso, Gaugin and Toulouse Lautrec works are available for $5 to $15. They are superior in clarity and color. For a desk, or for a tailored home is an unusual clock offered for 29.50. It has a thick disc base, a straight tubular neck, and the clock itself is pleasingly proportioned with an immense half-globe crystal. The face is sparingly marked with a straight metal overlay at the time divisions. For 2.95 there is an outstanding trivet, which folds to a tight-3 inch - closing and comes in a variety of colors. Its delicate lattices are joined by shiny rivets...They make a charming pattern when it is open Svelte and comfortable, the Pussy-Foots at Kramer's would be a fine gift. They are made of suede, red or black, and are delicately edged in gold kid, lined with plaid. They at $7.50 worth of smart leisure footwear. The belts here are especially distictive and attractive. There is a wide (6 inch) crushed gold kid, sprinkled with rhinestones, that meets with a jewelled buckle fastening, and another wide black velvet belt, studded with stones. A lo vely black suede, shaped belt has a half-moon mother-of-pearl buckle, for 4.95. Pure silk blouses, lustrous and heavy, begin at 8.95 and have poufs and other beguiling trim below the face. They are sufficiently grand for any occasion, including use as a dinner dress blouse. They come in metallics, pongees, antique and tie silks. An innovation, and a good one, are the various length sweaters here..in long, medium and short. They are knitted in a thick wool, and come in white, blue or toast, prices vary. "Tie-ettes" narrow bands of jewel toned suede, each decorated with a jewelled pin are 3.25 and would be pretty crossed at the neck of any sweater or high necked garment. If size is a problem in your giving, Kramer's will be happy to issue gift certificate to you, for any amount. A shipment of sweaters designed for larger sizes is en route. They will sell for under $15 and have waistbands constructed to prevent cling and be merciful to a full figure...high time someone considered this.

If you know of a poodle who has everything, we suggest a collar from The Particular Pet Shop. These canine trifles have satin leashes attached, and are made of such stuffs as black sequined velvet, pale blue velvet, decked with a rose, and pink taffeta. The prices vary from 7.50 to 20.00, and should make anyone who loves his dog love you for the gift. If you would like to fill a stocking with something very much alive, there are Cocker puppies of distinguished parentage and some new French Poodles, whose mother was flown to an assignation in England some time ago. This trans-Atlantic courtship resulted in some mighty blue-blooded standards, whose affectionate companionship may be had for anywhere from $150 to $500. There is not actually a guarantee of show prizes given with the dogs, but great things are bound to be heard from them. Parakeets are here for $5, or if you fancy a chartreuse parakeet, he will cost 10. A cockatoo can be yours for $25 and canaries with a proved disposition to music are $10. Any owner, if not the dog himself, may be made happy with a Pet Shop certificate which entitles owners to the specified credit, to be applied to food, baths, or other merchandise. A holiday special is being offered in the second category--with a complete poodle treatment (bathing, clipping and nail cut) at 2.75 for miniatures, 3.75 for middle-sized and 10.00 for big dogs.

The popular intarsia sweaters are present in number at the Carmel Dress Shop. One of white, with various shades of gray, is made of cashmere, with the best finishing and is 22.95. Heavy jewelled sweaters, which are more like jackets than sweaters, run from 39.95 to 45. The most outstanding of these is a scoop-necked evening sweater, of a waffle knit, in a creamy white, on which has been piled a ransom in gold and pearls. It buttons down the front and could be worn as a top, or as a cardigan. Elasticized cinchers are here in all ranges of color, including gold at 3.95. Blouses, a lot of them, include a pretty gossamer thin one with colored iridescent strips, some of which are gold. It is 7.95. There are some navy and gray box jackets, bordered down the front and around the cuffs with striped taffeta ribbon (the kind associated with pigtails) that are very handsome, for 29.95. The knit dresses here, by three manufacturers, range from 29.95 tp 69. and are to be had in any degree of dressiness. Many of them are jewelled, and they have especially handsome leather belts. The colors are myriad and among them should be one flattering to any complexion.

Appointment calenders, some by Sam Chamberlain, range from 1.25 to 1.75 at the Village Book Store. They are offered with flower illustrations, antique autos, American landscapes, and an especially fine one, printed in Germany, has illuminated reproductions of Medieval tapestries. The Abrams art books, containing 50 excellent full color plates, offer definitive studies of most popular artists..Van Gogh, Matisse, Picasso, They are 10.50 and distinctly worth it. Modern Library books, at 1.25, have a title list which encompasses most of the worthwhile literature of the past. They are attractively bound, and well-printed. For 1.25 you can buy little (5 X 5") recipe books which are gaily covered and deal with such things as foreign cookery, patio cookery, casserole recipes and the care and mixing of alcoholic beverages. The recipes appear to be interesting and the outdoor chef should be very pleased with the one on barbequeing and allied arts. The currently popular fiction supply is here, as well as a number of gift editions in slipcases, with color plate illustrations, The art book supply is especially good, and they are a gift that grows in the affection of the receiver, we think.

Delicacy is the pervading quality of the Silver Thimble's lingerie...fine pipings, delicate floral challis, sculptured lace insets, muted colors. Especially note–worthy are the dusters, in every conceivable material (rayon, the new washable wools, challis and cotton). They begin at 6.50 and many are quilted for warmth and style. The Yolande people, makers of hand-detailed blouses, use nylon too, now, and their tasteful piping, appliques and insets adorn that material as well as rayon and silk. The finish of these is exemplary, with french seams and pearl buttons. They are always welcomed by older women who remember when hand work was very dear and coveted. If you've a feminine wisp on your list, we think she'd be pleased with one too. Skinner satin is back and The Silver Thimble has this heavy, lustrous stuff in lavish slips and gowns as well as nylon and rayon. Slips begin at 5.95 and are, many of them, in the new off-white champagne tones that look well against the skin. Gowns are here in force, in muted pastels. We especially like the yellow things which are gay, and subdued. Permanent pleating is everywhere, and sprigged challis has reappeared...high time, too!

Putnam and Raggett has a wide selection of accessories suitable for Christmas. Such things as bags, gloves, belts and handkerchiefs always make welcome presents. A wide price range is represented among the accessories assuring an attractive gift to fit any budget. --Steve Crouch photo.

Anna Katz has collected some beautiful embroidered blouses, some from Mexico and others imported from Europe. To deal with the Mexican ones first; they are made of a fine white cotton which has a built-in stiffness that eliminates the need of starch. There are two styles, one with a regulation pointed, convertible collar, and the other with a neckband that supports a standing wing-like collar. They come in pink and white with almost any color of imaginative, cross-stitch embroidery. The prices begin at 8.95. The European blouses are cut in a grand manner, with long, full sleeves gathered into a tight, three inch crocheted cuff. These makers are fond of a high turtle neckline, although the styles vary. They are generously cut, and a gift of one should make any woman feel very much like a titled noble. They are silk and cost from 16.95 to 39.95. Also from Mexico are some hand-painted, hand-screened, hand-sequined evening and cocktail dresses. They come in incredible off-tones of color (a bluish pink or muted sea foam green) and cost from $59 to $79. They are utterly distinctive, both in styling and of a simple cut which promises to be durable.

Holman's, the Peninsula's largest department store, is a regular mine of gifts of all types. In all the departments can be found articles which would make fine presents for anyone on the Christmas list. Here are a few that would be appreciated by any woman. Sweaters, of course, are always welcome, and Holman's has imported cashmeres in all of the wanted shades from 34 to 40. The short sleeved pullovers are from $16.95 and the long sleeved cardigans from 22.95. Sheer nylon lingerie by such famous makers as Van Raalte, Carter's and Barbizon. Tailored or delightfully feminine from 2.50 to 17.95. Festive aprons of cotton brocade, silky cotton, crisp organdy in florals, stripes, pastels and deep tones are from $1 up. Slippers, especially the snowy white, soft warm alpacas. always make a hit. They are 4.95. Daniel Green slippers in a wide variety of colors start at $6. Belts are high style this year, and Holman's big selection in cloth and leather, expansion or contour styles start at 2.95 and run to 10.95. For a man, Revlon's complete nail implement set at $3.75, plus excise, is good.

This is the time of year the 1953 models are coming out and many people are thinking about a new car for the new year. Lorin Lacey has a car to fit any family requirements, including the budget. His fine imported British automobiles range from the inexpensive Morris Minor to the luxurious Jaguar Mark VII, which will satisfy the most exacting tastes. The Hillman Minx, one of the most popular imported cars, combines pleasing lines, economical operation, and a "big car" feeling. The Humber Hawk, a little larger, is the answer to those who want "a little more room." The Sunbeam Talbot, a very beautiful automobile, has proved the excellence of its engineering with a decisive win in this year's punishing Monte Carlo Rally. And the Rover, with its beautifully finished interior and unusual motor design, known in England as "the little Rolls Royce." The MG roadster, needing no introduction, is also on Lorin Lacey's floor. The 1953 Jaguars are here. The Mark VII sedan is generally conceded to be the finest car in its class in the world. The Jaguar XK 120 holds the world's production car speed record. And the XK 120 coupe recently ran steadily for one week at an average speed of over 100 m.p.h. Nothing more need be added. The advanced engineering in all of these British cars can only be appreciated by driving them. Their handling and performances have won them many advocates.

The Cork 'N' Bottle is prepared for Christmas with a complete selection of wines, liquors, liquers, and champagnes. Rex Lincoln, manager of the Carmel store, is showing Rod Coupe a champagne label.

The three Cork 'N' Bottle stores on the Peninsula are ready for Christmas, too. They have the answer to many of those difficult blanks on your Christmas list. A complete line of bar supplies and equipment is here. All the way from strainers and muddlers to fine punch bowl sets. Many very inexpensive gifts are available, such as openers and cocktail napkins, Insulated ice buckets are handy at all kinds of occasions. And they have some of the most complete bar recipe files ever gathered in book form. "The man who has everything" might like one of the fancy gift liquor bottles, which make wonderful decanters after the holiday season. This year there are several very handsome ones. It is the rare household indeed that has all the glasses it can use. The Cork 'N' Bottle's selection of glassware offers a tremendous variety of glasses at all prices. Little cocktail sets for two, fine sets of cocktail, liquer and highball glasses. And for the holiday season, fancy foods are always handy to have about, should guests drop in. The choice of unusually tasty canape makings would always be welcome. The Cork 'N' Bottle stores also offer glasses free of charge for large parties –a service especially desireable at this time of year.

In the three years they have been acting as travel agents on the Peninsula, Dick Phinney and Robert Mc Ginnis have booked over 10,000 people. These people were taking various length trips– from around-the-world to a weekend in San Francisco. No matter what the length or distance, the agency works out transportation and lodging details with the same completeness. The Phinney-Mc Ginnis agency is local representative for all the "carriers" –airlines, steam ships, railroads and bus lines –as well as for hotels, inns and resorts. Their business is to do the worrying about the details of your trip –getting reservations confirmed and coordinating the transportation. In no other car will you enjoy pride of ownership as in the distinguished Mark VII sedan. There's new-found fun in the easy, positive steering, the surprising roadability under all road conditions. There's rare exultation in the quiet murmur of the great 160-horsepower engine that powered the XK-120 Sports to a world's production car speed record of 132.6 miles per hour. For here is a car of unparalleled beauty; a car that is built in the finest tradition of British engineering and craftsmanship.

traveling in general. Either thru their own experiences or by talking with clients, they have learned what are the high and the low points all over the world. They can tell you to be sure to see a little town in the hills of Northern Italy or to avoid a widely advertised spa which is really a tourist trap. They know the currency and customs regulations involved in a trip abroad. All this in case your Christmas present to yourself, or someone else, is by way of being an adventure in seeing the world. As a special Christmas service, Phinney-McGinnis is again offering to send their Santa Claus letters. You get the stationery at their office, help "Santa" write the answer to your child's letter, return the letter to the office by the middle of next month, and your child will get the letter back before Christmas —mailed from the North Pole in Alaska. By the way all of those aforementioned services are free —the carriers and lodging places pay the toll. Heaven knows who pays Santa Claus for all of his trouble.

What about a gift of lasting value —something that will be useful for years to come. Appliances are sometimes thought of as too 'practical', but what housewife wouldn't be happy with a labor-saving electric blender or mixer? Wilder and Jones can offer a fine choice of appliances in all price ranges. All the way from a small stove timer to an automatic washer, or stove or refrigerator. A waffle iron is one of those things that make a perfect gift —inexpensive, yet considered a "luxury." Or one of the new irons —automatic heat control, steam generating unit for heavy pressing jobs. And an automatic pop-up toaster makes another fine gift. Coffee or tea kettles in a wide variety are offered here, as well as a compact little radio for the kitchen or laundry room. From now until Christmas, Wilder and Jones is giving free with the purchase of a range or refrigerator, a Crosley Jewel Radio or a $50 purchase order for appliances.

The Cottage Delicatessen on Ocean Avenue is all ready for the Holiday Season. Say you're tired after a day of Christmas shopping, stop in at the delicatessen and pick up an excellent dinner which can be put on the table in a few minutes or if friends should arrive, a meal can be obtained easily and quickly. The Cottage Delicatessen will also take orders for food and will prepare it for you. On the shelves is a wonderful selection of fancy foods and cheeses. A few of these will make any dinner or cocktail party enjoyable. A full stock of holiday wines, liquors and liquers is also to be had at The Cottage Delicatessen. This shop, with its excellent selection of food and drinks will help make Christmas enjoyable.

The Graham Music Company is the authorized agent for the Hammond Organ in this district. All Hammond products can be seen and played at the store on Mission street, including the famous Chord Organ which is so easily learned. Television sets are also available here and can be seen in operation at all times. The selection of things musical is wide. Records —all the way from singles to albums, small radios for a bedroom or kitchen. Phonographs are welcomed by anyone. Children's radios and phonographs and records make wonderful gifts for any youngster. Or, if the person on your list might like an easy-to-learn musical instrument, how about a ukelele or harmonica? A fine selection of Christmas sheet music and music books is also carred. Console radios are also on the floor, as well as the supreme gift, a Fisher combination radio-phonograph.

For those people who have visited in Hawaii and marveled at the shops there, Mrs. C.H. Ferguson has imported many of the items at her Song of the Islands shop in the Pine Inn building on Ocean avenue. There you will find beautiful carved monkeypod wood bowls, dished and trays which make a special and useful gift. Hand-made in Hawaii are the authentic Hula Girl and Holaku Lady and Beach Boy dolls—refreshingly different from domestic dolls. Koa seed necklaces and earrings will please any woman. And the artificial leis from 60¢ can do much to brighten a party during the holidays. Unusual also are the lauhala purses, mats and planters. Of course, the wonderful Hawaiian perfumes and colognes by Browny of Honolulu are particularly suited for gifts. These scents include White Ginger, Pakake, Orchid and Carnation. The prices start at 2.25, and that doesn't seem high for such a sure-fire pleaser.

No matter who is left on your Christmas list, he or she will be well satisfied with a gift from The House That Jack Built. Whatever your budget has allowed, this shop can produce a fine present. Watches —always an appreciated gift—start as low as 19.95 with a stainless steel, 17-jewel Wadsworth, up to the diamond Hamilton with diamond attachments from $125. Rosenthal china with silver trim by Sheffield is an unusually fine present. And a wide variety of flat and hollowware is also carried by the shop. Neptune cultured pearls, very fine in quality, come with either gold or gold-filled settings and the earrings start as low as 7.50. Birthstone rings and earrings are gifts of lasting importance to the receiver. Men's cuff links, pen knives, and key chains can always be used. Complete line of Ronson lighters —the pocket styles start at 7.50 and the table models at 10.95. A wide variety of clocks is also on display from a fine Swiss travel clock at 16.95 to Le Coultre's amazing Atmos clock at 175. Also the unusual glass "golden hour" mantle clock. Another inexpensive, much appreciated gift would be a silver file for flatware, lined in Pacific silver cloth to prevent tarnishing. These are just a part of the gifts available. All the prices include federal tax.

Ed Williams' shop for men is bound to have a gift for the man on your list. A gift from here will be used and appreciated for a long time. For instance, on the wide shelf of handsome sterling silver cuff links, you are bound to find a pair to suit an man—from 6.50 to 18. Or leather goods, all kinds of cases, both fitted and not. There is a wonderful little pocket-sized shaving kit that includes everything —amazing. And, of course, all sizes of luggage. Vests are popular this year and Ed Williams has many —suede starting at $15 and tattersal at 8.50. Smoking jackets and combination reading-bed jackets are always popular —the sort of luxury that only comes as a Christmas present. A giver never goes wrong with a sweater, and the selection here includes wool and cashmeres from 6.95 to $20. Golf and sport shirts are also welcome and the prices here range from 3.95 to 37.50. Slippers and loafers are also traditionally appreciated gifts. Of course, Ed Williams carries neckwear in bountiful supply and the prices are from $1 to $15. He also has some unusually fine toiletries. If you see blanks on that list, they can undoubtedly be filled well at Ed Williams shop at the Casa Munras.

Records are a gift that will last and give enjoyment long after the Holiday season. The Browse Around Music Shop has a selection ftom which a choice can be made to suit any friend or member of the family. Included is a wide variety of Christmas music on Westminister and London labels. And many collectors' items on RCA-HMV labels. Or the great stars of show business series in which most of the famous performances are recorded in Decca's "Curtain Call" series. Now The Browse Around has some fine records released for the first time in the U.S. Operas on Urania, Cetrasoria and Columbia labels are examples. And Zarzuelas (folk music) from Spain, with Spain's finest artists on Montellia laels are also available. Linguaphone language courses are also to be had at the Browse Around and they are acknowledged to be the finest way to learn a foreign tongue. Record players and phonographs are also handled here. The new RCA Victor three-speed phonograph is probably the most outstanding instrument of its kind. Webster-Chicago players and portable phonographs are also available. The Browse Around also handles small radios, Zenith, Emerson and Victor. Some of these include the clock mechanism that has proved popular with so many people who don't like alarm clocks...and who does?

Although Derek Rayne's is widely known for its quality imports, the shop also offers a wide selection of reasonably priced American brands. Both the men's and the women's shops have many gifts in all price ranges. The full sock counter, for example, contains all kinds of cashmere, wool and nylon argyles from $1. Or silver cuff links, with different motifs for the hobbies and professions, at $5. Hundreds of ties at all prices. Imported men's long-sleeved cha[illegible]ere sweaters—19.95. English fleece lined slippers for 7.95 and pajamas, a tremendous assortment in cotton, flannel, viyella, pure silk and rayon, starting at 5.95. Also a wide variety

Christmas at the MASON'S

If you'd ever spent Christmas Eve with the Mason's, you'd well understand why we're having so much fun this Christmas.

There's the traditional Christmas tree in the window—all done up with red and silver ornaments, tied with red satin bows. And streamers of the old-fashioned red and green ornaments hanging from the rafters. (So many of you have commented about the decorations that we suggest that those of you who haven't seen them should come in and take a look.)

And then, instead of waiting 'til presents on Christmas Eve, we get the thrill of unwrapping wonderful packages of Christmas gifts every day of the week. Something new, every day. And I do mean every day.

New jewelry from Coro...new bags from Goldcrest...new hosiery ...new lingerie...even a few new sweaters ...new blouses... new scarves.

What could be a more wonderful way to spend the holiday season than to keep wondering what's in the next packages...and how pleased the contents are going to make some expectant recipient? (I might add —— as if you didn't know —— that we also receive the traditional Christmas bills. Manufacturers have a peculiar idea that they should be paid for their merchandise when the bills are due.) If we get too over-enthusiastic when we talk to you...if we seem to be having too good a time in selling merchandise...excuse us:

We have an old-fashioned idea, too, that anything you buy from the Mason's has to be satisfactory; that your purchase isn't complete until you are completely satisfied.

In short, we'd like to have you feel the Mason's are sort of like an old shoe; Easy to get along with, easy to wear and comfortable. And when we say the Mason's, we mean Florence, and everyone associated with us.

For those of you who haven't been in, the Mason's are located on the east side of Dolores, between Fifth and Sixth. You can easily recognize our store by the beautiful Christmas tree in the window. Phone number is 7-3836. Hours; 9:30 to 6. (Remember; you also receive S & H green trading stamps.) Drop in and see us, won't you?

The Chelsea House in the May Court on Mission street offers complete catering service for all Holiday parties. No matter what kind of party you are planning, the Chelsea House will take over the preparing of food. All you need to do is talk over the general outlines with Mrs. Ethel Rexford and plan the menu with her. From there on, the Chelsea House will handle it. Whether it is to be an afternoon cocktail party for 50 or a full dinner party for five, all the hostess has to do is clean up the house and wait for the Chelsea House staff and the guests to arrive. Or, if you want your Christmas turkey roasted in the big professional oven at the Chelsea House, they will be glad to do it. And if something special is wanted to go with the festive bird, they will prepare it at the same time. Just place your order and relax.

ELIZABETH RILEY WEDS WILLIAM WILSON

Two pioneer Monterey Peninsula families were united in marriage recently, when Elizabeth Allan Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Riley of Point Lobos, became the bride of William Robert Wilson of Carmel Valley.

The three o'clock service was read by the Reverend K. Fillmore Gray at the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel.

Arrangements of harvest vegetables and fruits and sheaths of wheat decorated the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned with a stand-up collar, long sleeves and tight fitting bodice. A juliett e cap of the same lace held an illusion veil. Orchids and stephanotis formed her boquet.

The bride's sister, Mary Riley, was her only attendant. Her gown was of pale gray lace over ice blu e satin, and in her hair she wore an ice blue bandeau with veiling of the same shade and she carried an arrangement of coral chrysanthemums.

Frank Long of Carmel Valley served as best man and seating the guests were Col. William McC. Chapman and Charles Hartley.

The bride's mother wore a street length model of bright navy blue lace over taffeta and pinned on a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. William I. Wilson, the benedict's mother, chose a navy and white print with which she wore a white hat and navy accessories.

Following the church service. a reception was held at the Riley's Point Lobos home, where the rooms were decorated with autumn leaves and copper colored chrysanthemums.

The bride who is the granddaughter of A.M. Allan who came to the Peninsula in 1896, has one sister, Mary Riley, who makes her home in San Francisco, and a brother, Patrick, who attends Carmel High School. She is a graduate of Monterey High School, attended the Un iversity of California for three years and graduated from Washington State College.

Colonel and Mrs. William I. Wilson of Carmel Valley are the groom's parents. He attended Hartnell College and is a graduate of California Polytechnic College. He is the great grandson of Alberto Tescony who s:ttled on the Peninsula in 1840.

Following a honeymoon in the south the couple will make their home at Rancho Chupinos in the Carmel Valley.

An outstanding event of the Thanksgiving weekend was the wedding last Friday at the Church of the Wayfarer of Beverly Wightman and Luigi Barbieri. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John W. Morse of Carmel. After a honeymoon at a Sierra ski resort the couple will reside in Carmel where Mr. Barbieri is in business.

Carmel Valley Sun Spots

by PARKER KIMBALL

Christmas and winter began to appear in earnest over the Valley last week with the first major interruption in power service lasting several hours during the rains and high winds that snapped branches from trees and put the Valley on candle power. . .And Christmas plans got rolling —now that Thanksgiving's football games are over and the turkey carcass in the soup. . .The Tularcitos Mother's Club Ball, to be held at The Carousel this year for the first time, Saturday, Dec. 13. . .and it will probably be the flossiest event the Valley has ever seen in the way of a social function. . .Main attraction, over and above the dancing, will be the intermission floor shows, put on by the Navy Line Dchool's "Night in the Bali Room" cast, spotlighting variety acts ranging from blues singer to the noted 'Bali Cats Chorus'' and tap dancing to a wicked hula done by Marian Stanton, an island.born girl-MCing will be left to personable Les Youngblood, a Lt. Commander at the Line School. There will be two orchestras, the Bali Room orchestra, accompanying the floorshow and the rhythm band of Dan Miller. Throughout the evening, refreshments will be available. Mothers are asked to turn in ticket money to Barbara Haber or Ruth Rail by Dec. 11.

And then there's the White Christmas party at the Community Church, wherein all kids bring a simple gift wrapped in white, and a community sing of Christmas carols follows— The date is Friday, Dec. 21st.

The big all-community Kid's Christmas Party put on annually by the Tularcitos Mother's Club will not be held at the school this year, but in the Village, the exact location to be announced later. . .However Mr. and Mrs. Santa will be notified of the change and will be there with sleigh bells on. The date is Monday, Dec. 22, probably at 8 p.m. . . . .

The Tularcitos School's open house and Christmas program. . .the biggest yet. . .will take place on Dec. 19, Friday . . .beginning with a program of Christmas dramas put on by the separate rooms and followed by the usual meeting of parents, teachers and oublic, and exhibits of the youngster's best work of the semester.

And so the holidays get underway.

It is interesting to note that while Monterey City employees are hired to put up street decorations, the Valley gets it done for nothing...The Valley road has never glittered as brightly with tin cans and varicolored papers as it does today just before Christmas. . .and not costing the Valley resident anything but a severe pain-in-the-neck again. . .

PEBBLE BEACH NOTES . . .

- - - - - -

Mrs. William L. Hudson of Pebble Beach departed this week for London where she will be met by her daughter, Sydney Hudson, who is attending school in Paris. Sydney and her mother will return to the French capital where Mr. Hudson will join them for the Holidays.

- - - - - -

Captain and Mrs. Leonard Kirby (Betty Work) left their Pebble Beach home Monday for Florida, where they will spend the winter months. In the Spring they plan a European trip, which will keep them away from the Peninsula for about a year.

- - - - - -

Mrs. Harry W. Toulmin, whose Monterey residence is the historic Larkin House, returned this week from England, where she has spent the last two months visiting the late Mr. Toulmin's sister.

Armed with his degree, Peggy and John came to the Peninsula and John began the business of teaching with a job at the Salinas high school. It took about a year for the disenchantment, and it was then that he bought the Village Book Store. A shop quaint enough for High Holborn, it is a small place, with a winding staircase, niches, and low ceilings that make it seem tailored to browsing, a pursuit John so favors that he's sometimes hard to rout out.

There are two Short children, Manda who is 4 and Lenci who is 2½. Happily settled in their Monte Vista home, the Shorts are now settling. even more happily into a newly acquired MG. A long time sports car enthusiast, John recently bought the bright little car, and is its ardent admirer. Between it, the shop, which he enjoys, and his

GARDENING FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

By CHARLES W. DELANEY

It is unwise to apply any fertilizer to plants through the winter and rainy months. It forces tender growth and, if we have freezing temperatures, the new growth is killed. However, if there are any bare, unplanted areas, fertilizer and compost may be spaded into the beds which helps loosen the soil and facilitates the absorption of water.

House plants and lawns should be fertilized at this time. Your house plants which have smooth surfaced leaves should be washed either in the bath tub or out of doors using a fine water spray. The beauty of philodendron and ivy leaves mya be enhanced washing with a teaspoonful of Volck's Oil in 6 ounces of water. It gives the leaves a glossy effect and also kills most insects.

African violets and plants with fuzzy leaves should not have oil or water touch the leaves. If they are dust covered, a gentle brushing with a soft brush will suffice.

Insects in the garden are quite plentiful, especially earwigs which eat the edges of new foliage. They are controlled by DDY, Lindance or quite plentiful, especially earwigs which eat the edges of new foliage. They are controlled by dusting DDT, Lindane or chlorodane over the ground and around the pots or plants. They hide under fallen leaves, boards or stones. They also collect about the base of fence posts. A thorough application of powder or spray of the above will eliminate most of the earwigs.

Heavy foliaged plants such as holly, oak trees and veronica are often infested with scale which will kill these shrubs in one season. Spray thoroughly with Volck's Oil winter formula or a lime sulphur solution.

If your flowering peach or quince has curly leaf, as soon as the leaves have fallen—spray every month with Orthorix or Bordeau mixture. The entire tree and every twig including the ground should be thoroughly saturated.

December is the best month to plant spring blooming bulbs, jonquils, tulips and hyacinth. Plant the bulb deep on a cushion of sand. Borromeal is the only fertilizer needed. If gophers are on the premise, you should plant in pots.

Plants for Christmas gifts require some thought. The poinsettias should be given just ordinary care and not too much heat. Keep the soil moist and not wet at any time. After it finished blooming, place the pot in a protected spot in the garden. Cut back to about six inches and water very sparingly. Cuttings can be made for some additional plants which thrive only in areas with a southern exposure. Some people have good luck growing poinsettias, others kill them.

Living evergreen trees are frequent gifts. They should be planted out as soon as the holidays are at an end.

Most plants are watered too much and fertilized too sparingly. Never permit the bottom of the pot to stand in water. The roots will drown and kill the plants in a short time.
